

Good corporate citizenship makes brilliant business sense. Companies that support their communities receive valuable benefits, including positive employee morale, teamwork opportunities, enhanced leadership skills and image. Through Corporate Services, the Volunteer Center of North Texas (VCNT) strives to facilitate win-win relationships between companies and nonprofit agencies through a variety of ways:

Corporate Partners

A multi-tiered approach to good corporate citizenship that allows companies to support the work of the Volunteer Center while enhancing their efforts and position in the community in support of more than 1,655 nonprofit agencies.

Corporate Partners Forum

A panel discussion and networking event that features corporate citizenship strategies and best practices, highlighting community involvement successes in North Texas.

Hands At Work Corporate Employee Projects

Employees engage in teambuilding and add to their skill sets and competencies, connect to communities, develop ties with nonprofits, establish an emotional connection to those in need, and become good social responsibility ambassadors of your company.

Employee Disaster Training Program

VCNT can teach companies and their employees to be prepared for an emergency or catastrophic disaster as well as allow them to sign up to be ready for a call to action.

Team Building Training

Working together across departments can impact your bottom line in a positive way and contribute to the overall success of the organization. VCNT can help with team building opportunities and sessions.

Project Leader Training

Employees learn how to work with a nonprofit agency, lead community projects, develop and demonstrate leadership skills, practice good logistical planning, create project budgets, and more.

Special Events

- The Hearts of Texas Awards Luncheon helps VCNT showcase volunteerism and also raises operating revenue to provide support services to more than 1,655 nonprofit agencies in North Texas.
- Lone Star Salute!* celebrates volunteerism at the grass-roots level in three counties. Nonprofit agencies nominate their volunteer(s) for their community efforts and contributions to help move the mission of their agency forward.
- The North Texas Volunteer Challenge is a four-hour day of community service that brings hundreds of volunteers together to lend a helping hand to many nonprofit service projects in North Texas to help give communities hope!

Student Programs

Student programs are a way to support and help identify tomorrow's next generation of volunteers.
